To Become Good Frenchman To Even Up Accounts.

Paris, July 5—(United News.)—One of the most impressive and probably the most unusual incidents to mark the struggle of Alsatian autonomist factions against the French government, today interrupted the trial of Georges Benoit, an Alsatian who shot Judge Fachot in a Paris suburb last winter.

Judge Fachot, who had incurred the enmity of Benoit by prosecuting the governments case at the load of the man who had shot him as he told Benoit. "I only ask you to return told Benoit." I only ask you to return to Alsace and tell all of them there just what French people are."

The president of the court expressed the hope that the Alasatian press would report the words of Judge Fachot but Fachot said:

"They will not repeat my words but will say I was afraid to speak."

The defense lawyers attempted to enter a plea of lunacy for Benoit but the prisoner complained about going to an asylum. The president of the court observed that such action "looks like he had good sense."

The trial will be continued tomorrow.

happy because they love.

-By Robert Quillen-

At times your age and sex tempt you to be like the little boy who resolved to eat worms. The little boy, you will remember, pretended world had offended him and he loved nobody. Because he loved nobody, eternal truth and the understanding of it is essential to your future hour before. But when some act or word of yours, or some thought of you when you are absent, fills my heart with a warm and tender affection for you, that is the time when you afford me the greatest measure of joy.

It is the giving of love that makes life endurable. God commands His love, but because

He understands the ways and needs of the human heart and knows that

It can't come from their love for her, for she doesn't know how much or how little they love her. And when they grow older and become almost indifferent to her, she will love them still and still her love will

When young people fall in love, their ecstacy does not come from being loved but from loving. They are in love with love. They revel ve, and if you learn to love many, you will have many to afford you joy Another's hate cannot harm you. You may not be aware of it. But your own hate makes life bitter and ugly and robs you of every pleasure

So it is with love, also. While you have some one to love, you will be happy. But if you become selfish or devote yourself to a career and become indifferent to friends, you are destined to be miserable though

Your first reference comes from the supposed interpretation by Jesus of the Parable of the Tares, which only a very few scholars regard as an au-thentic utterance of the Master. Cannon Box, the Angelican commentator cautious and conservative, says of it: "The allegorization is elaborate and rather artificial, the apocalyptic conception are of the conventional type, and are expressed in conventional lan-guage. It may well represent a later growth of the apostolic age."

Your second quotation opens up the very large question of the teaching attributed to Jesus in the fourth gospel.

That here are many genuine sayings of Jesus there is no doubt, but they are interwoven with the author's experience and the intensity of feeling manifested in the language of chapter v, 41-44, is due to the enthusiasm with which the author presented his message to those who clung tenaciously to the tenets of Judaism.

SLAYING OF SANDERS TO BE AIRED TUESDAY

The slaying of Warren Sanders, 25, and the wounding of his wife Thursday night at their home, 616 McDonalds street, will be investigated by the Fulton grand jury Tuesday, it was announced Friday at the solicitor-general's office. Hayward Sanders, 18, brother of the dead man, is held without bond at the police station, and, according to officers, has signed a confession which places the blame for fession which places the blame for he shooting on youthful rage and oliday liquor he used in celebrating he Fourth of July. Warren Sanders died at Grady hospital from the effects of a pistol bullet through his head. His wife is in Grady hospital with bullet wounds in her shoulder and arm, inflicted when she attempted to restore peace in the household as the brothers fought, according to police. The alleged confession tells of brothers who stopped work in observance of Independence Day and bought liquor in large quantities, and of scuffing while drunk. The scuffing continued in spite of Mrs. Sanders' efforts to consider the scuffing continued in spite of Mrs. Sanders' efforts to consider the scurios of the sanders' efforts to consider the sanders' efforts the sanders' effort timed in spite of Mrs. Sanders' efforts to conciliate the two brothers, and good nature faded and anger began to dominate, according to Sanders' statement.

"He truck at me and missed. I saw the gun in his trunk, got it and began firing," the Sanders youth said.

"The last I remember was just firing and taking my brother to the ear when the police arrived."

The boy talked freely about the killing, adding some details that he did not include in his signed confession.

"Warren knocked me crazy when he hit me." he said, contradicting his signed statement to the effect that his

SYNOPSIS.

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Bex Travers in Harley street, its crushed by a letter from Ber fiance, Geoffrey Ford, a well-known novellst, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble, she falls to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled, too, Toward the end of the day he tells Joy that he has just loat a great deal of money through an unscrippulous solicitor. And he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

In the commend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his justifies suggestion that he marry and take up the new post. Rex turns a deaf ear. Jey, who has been fistening to the doctor's collecuty, suddenly sees a method of evage for her and she asks Dr. Travers. Jey, who has been fistening to the doctor's collecuty, suddenly sees a method of evage for her and she asks Dr. Travers suggestion, and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her cangagement. The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Pitsroy. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word, and they enter into an agreement to another man.

There, again, wearing that white jacket over his dress clothes; there, on that same balcony at that same hour as the other night, when everything had seemed to be on the very brink of happiness, stood Rex Travers.

He had come in not 10 minutes before the other two. He had put up his car, had hurried up to the door of Melanie's room to call to her the news that she had a little new nephew, and that all was well. Had gone to sterilize certain instruments of his in the small photographic dark room off the bathroom, had heard Roy's bark, had finished what he was doing, hurried out on to the balcony. The electric marimba-phone, instrument created by Joe Green, will be played by him and his musicians when the Temple hour broadcasts its program over the Columbia system tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The electric marimba-phone is built on the general plan of the marimba, with two rows of wooden bars arranged in semi-tone order. Under each bar is a cylinder tube 3 inches in diameter, made of silver with a small fan blade attached to the top. A quiet running motor turns the fan blades in each of the tubes and the bars are struck with a soft hammer made of yarn, vibrating according to the touch of the player. With this instrument, Green produces pipe organ effects for radio in combination with the xylophone. The number he will play on it on Saturday night will be "A Kiss in the Dark."

FORMER PREMIER OF GREECE PLACED IN CABINET SEAT

Athens, July 5 .- (A) -Andrew Nichalalopopulos, former premier of Greece, was taken into the cabinet of Eleutherios Venizelos as vice president of the council of ministers and head of the foreign department today. He will act for M. Venizelos when the latter is absent.

the latter is absent.

The change was made to solve a partial cabinet crisis caused by the resignation of C. Zavitsianos, minister of the interior. Pericles Argiropoulos, minister of foreign affairs, agreed to take the portfolio of the interior, thus making a place for M. Nichalalopulos.

The latter was premier from 1924 to 1925 and it was his ministry which was overthrown by the military coup was overthrown by the military coup of General Pangalos, who later made himself dictator.

The fact that he is less than a half dozen games out of second place keeps bobbing around in his mind. Now that his pitching has sleveloped into some of the best in the league the Cracker president wants one more try. "If I can get a hitting outfielder," he said, "I think we can get up in the first division and stay there. Nashville is slipping and Memphis isn't steady enough. If we can get our hitting to work with our pitch-ing we'll be in the race yet."

The Barons seem to have emerged from the New Orleans series in good shape after a disastrous start. They dropped four straight and then won as many. Interesting as a sort of delayed aftermath to the sour fight in San Francisco that cost Ace Hudkins a $13,000 fine is a letter to this desk from O. H. Mickel, former Atlantan now in the printing business in Oakland.

Mickel attended the Hudkins-Belanger fight at Dreamland, the scrap that cost the Nebraska Wildcat thirteen grand for stalling.

Here is what Mickel wrote the night after the fight, before the California athletic commission stepped in and poured its penalty into Ace:

Wimbledon tonight.

The American beauty defeated her California rival, Helen Jacobs, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, in the women's singles final today and the wide spread comments of the most critical of all tennis galleries indicate that she is beloved and admired where the veteran Suzanne Lenglen was regarded with mixed feelings during her five-year reign as Wimbledon tennis queen from 1919 through 1923.

A fashionable crowd of 15,000 saw Miss Wills in many new aspects today as the Berkeley girl won the women's title for the third year in succession and, paired with Francis T. Hunter, advanced to the final of the mixed doubles. Miss Wills and Hunter beat the South Africans, N. Farguharson and Miss E. L. Heine, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3, to gain the mixed doubles final.

They saw a relentless hammering

They saw a relentless, hammering and precise all-court player pile ace on ace to overwhelm Miss Jacobs. EXCITED, SQUEALING.

They saw a childishly excited and squealing girl in action in the mixed doubles instead of the somber-faced girl who long ago won the nickname of "Miss Poker Face." In the midst of the electrical rallies in the mixed doubles, Miss Wills repeatedly yelled out:

"Out."

They saw a self-conscious demure girl whose first thought at tumbling was to rearrange her skirt to cover her dainty knickers. The crowd roared when Helen fell flat on her back in going after a deep retrieve in the second set of the mixed doubles. Undaunted the prim Helen sedately pulled down her upturned skirt with one hand and swiped at the ball with the other.

SPEEDY, VERSATILE. They saw an uncanny court general repeatedly attack her adversary's backhand in the women's singles final and then suddenly flash a sizzling drive past the other's forehand.

Dempsey Too Far Gone To Ever Come Back, Says Edgren

MAULER MINUS PUNCH, SPEED OF TITLE DAYS

Only Fair Fighter and Would Not Make a Real Champion.

By Robert Edgren.

New York, July 5.—Can Dempsey "come back?" Candidly, I don't think he can. At least to anything like years ago! Those days are gone forever. Dempsey was pretty good in the Chicago fight with Tunney-but not the real Dempsey by about 10 per That's a lot, to a fighter. It would be a lot to a sprinter-10 per cent. For instance, 10 per cent in speed would be approximately the difference between running 100 yards in a world's record time of 9.4 secon is, and running in the slow time of 10.4 seconds, which wouldn't create any sensation at all. With a fighter, 10 per cent at all. With a fighter, 10 per centloss of speed, punching power, endurance, might mark the difference between a great champion and just a fairly good fighter. It did, at Chicago. Dempsey was a champion for just one round, the seventh, in which he walloped Tunney into submission and knocked him out, even if tricky manipulation of the "official" count afterward did give Tunney about 18 seconds to recover in when he should have been counted out in 10. Oh, yea.

have been counted out in 10. Oh, yea.

Dempsey did some pretty good fighting in other rounds. He started deliberately to make Tunney miss his right-hand punches, and he made Tunney miss. He outboxed Tunney, who hecame exasperated and took to wrestling and holding Dempsey's around the neck with his left and punching at Dempsey's jaw with his light. Then in the seventh Dempsey made his bid for a knockout and the championship. But cutting out that round, in the rest of it the lack of the 10 per cent counted heavily. Dempsey's legs grew slow, his punches uncertain, and Tunney was able to take the lead away from him and make a showing in the last round that gave some excuse—ignoring the actual knockout in the seventh—for handing Gene the decision.

GODFREY A TOUGH ONE.

That was two years ago, Dempsey is in his 35th year. He has been softening up a little more these past the source that he can fight like the old Dempsey. If he could that would be the greatest "sport miracle," but it's a picture I don't expect to draw.

Dempsey might fight again and the sport was a free-hitting affair, pure. Dempsey might fight again and whip Sharkey, Schmeling, Paulino, or any of that bunch. But they're talking of matching him at Agua Cal-

Dempsey would have had no trouble doing it as he was six or eight years ago. At Shelby he hired Godfrey as a sparring partner, and the first day I arrived in camp I found Godfrey with half an inch of surgeon's plaster covering his ribs on the left side. Big George mournfully explained to me that Dempsey had socked George too hard the day before, and put him out of commission not only for that day, but for the rest of the season. "Ah thought all ma ribs was busted," said George, "but the doctor says they ain't busted—just all the ligaments is tore loose. I tell you, that boy Dempsey hits somethin' awful."

AS PESSIMISM

Notre Dame Eleven's Hopes Are Dim, Says Famous Coach.

Chicago, July 5. — (Special.) -If midsummer pessimism results in autumnal optimism and satisfaction, Knute Rockne, the bald generalissimo of Notre Dame's football squad, will be all smiles December 1.

Rockne voiced another wail of pesimism today in asserting that Notre Dame's chances for a successful grid-

Dame's chances for a successful griditor season this fall are not too bright and that the destinies of the fighting Irish might not be so brilliant as those of 1928, when five games were won and four were lost.

The taciturn man who has had Irish elevens at the top of the heap for 15 years is serious about his 1929 predictions, too. He doesn't consider the dark prospect as a mere midsummer madness but as an inevitable doom which will be more impressive as September nears.

as September nears.

MAY BE MOWED DOWN
TOO OFTEN.

"Tell them I have no predictions, except that we are going to face a withering fire all fall and probably be mowed down too often for pleasure."
Rockne said. Of course, there are those who discount Rockne's words those who discount Rockne's words and point to the unexpected victory over the Army last fall, but Rockne points out that Wisconsin, Carnegie, Georgia and Southern California turned the trick on the Irish last fall after he had hinted of such pos-sibilities in a proclamation last summer.

"Why I lost six regulars by graduation—Captain Miller and Leppig, linemen, and Grady, Chevigny, Niemiec and Collins, backs, in addition to six in February and two in June by the 'flunk' route. Have a football team under those conditions?" And Mr. Rockne shook his head woefully. RESERVES IMPORTANT FACTOR

RESERVES IMPORTANT FACTOR Rockne has a fair first eleven in prospect and some of the 1928 reserves and yearlings might be of varsity class before October 1 but the reserve factor, always of importance at Notre Dame, is worrying Rockne again this year. If his first team could travel through 60 minutes of rugged warfare just nine times this fall, the bald mentor might not be so gloomy. All of them are boys, he points out, and youths under the points out, and youths under the steady strain customary for Notre Dame football teams crack without warning.

The freshman squad of 1928 was not too alluring, although the Notre Dame coach believes several yearlings and Kaplan, stand out as the fresh-

If Herr Max Schmeling isn't the next heavyweight champion of the world and if he doesn't hold the title for quite a spell the German will fool a number of boxing experts.

At the age of 23 he has most of the needed ingredients. He is big enough, fast enough, strong enough, cool enough, game enough, and he carries two good-looking hands into action-a left and a right. His left has improved a good bit in the last few months, but he can improve it still further, and when he does he will be a two-gun fighter who can do legiate track and field season, a world of damage.

It has been taken for granted that he will either knock out Sharkey or give him a terrible mauling. He will unless Sharkey puts on another surprise. He would knock out the Sharkey who fought Stribling at tered in the National Collegiate Miami Beach. But Sharkey will be more dangerous than Paulino ever A. A. championships in Chiwas because he is a faster, better puncher and a much better boxer. cago on June 7 and 8. was because he is a faster, better puncher and a much better boxer. Sharkey always has possibilities. The stuff is there to make a much better fighter than he has shown himself to be, and he will need his best when he meets Schmeling, or else lose a pair of ears and part of his chin. He isn't going to beat Schmeling with any set or series of threatening gestures.

When you figure Sharkey's battles against Heeney, Risko, Christner, De Kuh and Stribling, he would figure to have little chance against the German fighter. It will be a question as to what state of mind he may to follow. Schmeling will be the best man he has met, not overlooking a steel tape after the race and found

The Fastest Human.

Dear Rice: Is Simpson the fastest human? How much faster is he than Drew, Paddock, Bowman and company at their best? Is he seven feet faster? Is Bracey six feet faster than that crowd? And is Tolan five and one-half feet faster than they? Would Simpson lead Howard Drew from the gun? Hardly! This is not the authority of the seven look of the seven feet faster than they? Paddock equaled the mark six times. old-timer! But is this 9 4-10 seconds actually one-fifth of a second or seven feet faster than the 9 3-5 gaited stars of yesteryear?

I-believe the following conditions enabled Simpson to chalk up 9 4-10:

his race. If the runner weighed 165 pounds he had to use 55 foot pounds of energy more on his initial step to rise to his running level.

Jack Ryder, coach of B. A. A., has said repeatedly that if the hundred record was to be lowered, the first ten yards would have to be covered faster. The starting blocks solved that problem. But are they fair?

5. When watches showing 1-10 seconds are used in timing, closer timing can be made. It is possible that several 9 3-5 hundreds which were not allowed to be called 9 2-5 would have been called 9 5-10 had the present system been in vogue.

Simpson is fast. Probably he would beat any man that ever lived. But by seven feet! He would never lead Drew, Paddock, Kelly, Duffy, Bowman and company (at their peak) by more than six inches if he ran 8 2-5 seconds. They would step along with an antelope.

JOE THE TRACKWALKER.

Worth Mark. He would the second heat. Then came Simpson, of Ohio State, in the fourth heat. The Buckeye won the trial in the same time. Bracey, of Rice institute, Texas, had won his heat in :09 6-10 and Leland, of Texas Christian, in the same time. Thus the final figured to result in a record-breaking performance.

The final was the greatest 100-yard race this writer has seen in years.

The eight qualifiers left their holes as Golf's Haunting Phantom.

Golf is a game that even the champion must hold in the deepest respect. There is always the haunting phantom of disaster. Take Bobby Jones' final round before the play-off. He had taken a 71 in the third round on Saturday, a week ago. He was on his way to what looked to be a romp and another 71 or 72. Before he knew what had struck him he had a 7 at the eighth hole, after hitting a fine drive and a good-looking iron. He rallied after this wallop. He got going again. He was six strokes ahead of his nearest rival, with six holes to play. And then at the sixty-eighth hole of the match, with everything set, another seven exploded under his heart. And again the explosion took place before he ploded under his heart. And again the explosion took place before he Neal was up on Miss I. L. Smith's 5-year-old Ossie H. and he won the second event for his first triumph. His next win was in the fourth on J. Marsch's Camp Boss, which paid his backers $13.38 for a $2 mutuel ticket, The third victory came in the sixth on the Harned Bross' 7-year-old, Congo II, which was the favorite.

Allen's first win at Latonia came in the second race on D. E. Stewart's 2-year-old maiden. Ulverston. He then waited until the feature race before turning in his second triumph.

This time he had a leg up on J. W. Parrish's namesame, Dr. Parrish, which galloped away with the mile race and $1,100. The veteran rider then came back in the sixth on S. J. Kelly's Little Colonel to achieve his third victory of the day.

hard-working western jockeys have been turning the trick so often that it apparently is no longer an extraordinary fest.

Today it was the little 16-year-old apprentice, Paul Neal, and the veteran rider, C. E. Allen, who joined the long line of jockeys who have ridden three winners in a single day. Paul accomplished his stunt at Arlington Park, while Allen turned in his three victories at Latonia.

To the youthful apprentice, who has assumed the riding leadership on the Chicago tracks, booting a trio of winners under the wire in a day was nothing new. He has accomplished the feat twice before this season and numerous times has been astride two Battles Set.

Intense heat and high winds, have a ided severely to previous ill results of prolonged drought in the spring wheat belt north as well as south of the Canadian boundary, according to comprehensive advices current here today. The same advices said wheat crops have simply been burned up over a wide sweep of territory. It was added that in the most badly damaged sections there still is a relatively small percentage of fields which can make a few bushels per acre, but that the general condition is such that thousands of acres sown to wheat will never be cut, and some already are being plowed up, whereas elsewhere fermers are turning their livestock into the fields.

Over much of the drough-stricken region, today's reports here said rains of present or hereafter cannot greatly change the situation. Reports at hand today did not indicate any rain of importance, and prices here mounted to 29 cents a bushel above the sea-

Profit-Takers Continue Selling on Predictions

High Low Close | Sales (In Hundreds)

New York. July 5.—(P)—Mining of last year. Duke Power dropped shares were given a whirl upwards in today's irregular session on the curb exchange, while profit-takers, interrupted by the July Fourth hold day, resumed their selling of public utilities.

Conflicting price moves were partly attributed to nervousness of traders anticipating the $200,000,000 jump in brokers' loans reported after the close of the market. Call money held at 7 per cent.

Rumors of mergers and co-operative plans were extended from the public utility field to the oil and aviation in dustries. Dividend actions and tradenews continued favorable.

Newmont Mining on a heavy turnover shot to 216 3-4 and closed at 213 1-2 for a net gain of 5 3-8, and Noranda Mines finished at 61 3-4, its high price of the day, for a net advance of 3 3-4. Buying was in expectation of higher prices for copperas a result of reduced mine operations and better European demand for the metal.

Losses in the utilities ranged up to more than 6 points at the close, although practically the entire group wound up at the best prices of the day. A tew of the more volatile issues converted early morning declines into gains. Middle West Utilities opening at 210 bounded to 220, a record high, for a net gain of 4 7-8. Earnings are reported running well ahead ton market was generally lower to-day under realizing or liquidation, which appeared to be coupled with some southern and local selling. The atter probably was influenced by some of the larger private acceage figures but the offerings were not heavy, and after selling off to 18,23, or 11 points net lower, October contracts rallied partially, closing at 18 30. The general market closed bardy steady at net declines of 2 to 13 points.

general market closed barrly steady at net declines of 2 to 13 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 points to a decline of 1 point. Some buying was reported on the relatively steady showing of Liverpool over the local holidays, but the demand was quite reachly supplied and the market soon turned easier. There was some bullish comment on reports of rains in the south and a reports of rains in the south and a lear that they were increasing the langer of damage from boll weevil. These features, however, evidently

These features, however, evidently failed to create any general buying, and prices sagged off later in the day under comparatively small offerings.

A private report placing the condition of the crop at 74.1, and the indicated increase in acreage at 5.5 per cent, probably accounted for some of the selling. Two other private rein acreage and made the condition 70.9 per cent.

lished during the past few days have shown a considerable range, the fig-ures on the indicated acreage increase ranging from 1.9 to 5.5 per cent and pointing on the average to about 3.7 er cent. Condition figures also have ion on July 8. There will be overnment report on condition or cated yield until August 8.

Much of the day's business was sup-posed to represent evening-up of old accounts in preparations for the week-

AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, July 5 .- (P) - Fail-bre of the weather map to confirm Parly rain reports and bearish private crop reports today caused cotton prices to work nearly $1 a bale below an early advance. The initial improvement due to the rain reports and relatively steady cables carried October up to 18.30, but the option traded off to 18.11 and closed at 18.19, or 2 points net lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 2 to 3 points.

Liverpool cables were 3 to 5 points better than due and as the English market scored a good advance over early rain reports and bearish pri-market scored a good advance over the holiday here yesterday, first trades showed gains of 7 to 9 points. Re-ports of considerable rain in the belt over the holiday supported the mar-and final prices showed recoveries of to 8 points from the lows. Re-cipts 7.790, for week 17.604, for year 0.344.892; last year 8.461,536. Ex-ports 748, for week 44.279, for year

tone of the stock market as satisfactory. The group which probably harbors the largest short interest is the motor group. The itechnical position alone warrants some recovering among the leaders. Particularly is this true of Chrysler, Hudson and Studebaler. The decline in Rupp has gone far enough to make the stock attractive. It would not be surprising to see a revival of speculative interest in General Motors. HESTER'S WEEKLY

Notable in the group participating in the proposed commodity center in New York is the coffee and sugar exchange, established in 1882. In the last six years the volume of trading in sugar has grown 133 per cent despite a restriction scheme (in Cuba). The silk exchange, organized in 1928, is still in swaddling clothes. The others interested in the building project—rubber and cocoa—are a little older. They were organized in 1926. The commodity exchange is based on the knowledge that hedging is an established practice where a trade wishes to be independent of price fluctuations.

New York, July 5.—(Special.)—Today's market reflected the expectation of the sizeable increase in brokers' loans. The general list was moderately reactionary with the exception of motors, which attracted excellent buying particularly in Chrysler, which continues one of the attractive purchases in this group.

Other individual issues whose position and prospects as well as strong recent market action, indicate attractive purchases, are Kreuger & Toil, Gold Dust, Loose-Wiles, and Stewart-Warner. ATLANYA.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

That night Tarzan asked the chief about it. The old fellow remembered it well. He related his story of that long trip up great rivers and over wild mountains. "Wait until the rainy season is over," he said, "then I will take some of my warriors and go with you." So Tarzan, for the present, had to be content with that promise.

The next day a small party of hunters returned to report a large herd of elephants some miles away. There were several full-grown bulls whose ivory would be worth having. Preparations were made for a great hunt. The witch-doctor made charms to assure them good fortune, and at dawn fifty

Chicago, July 5.—(United News.)—
At the end of a long trail of witnesses who told of scandals, plots and trickery, in the romance of a "poor working girl" and a 62-year-old millionaire, final arguments were reached today in the $250,000 breach of promise soit of Ann Livingston against Franklin S. Hardinge.

Called "Gold-Digger."

Logan's testimony, in effect, was in the working draperies to the public.

Other offerings on duty es were around at 3.80c, but operators to apparently uninterested at that level. frees were around at 3.80c, but operators were apparently uninterested at that level. In the absence of buying interest in duty frees, offerings of these descriptions were withdrawn from the market.

The futures market was firm throughout the day, reflecting steadier European cables over yesterday's American holiday. Active short covering in July at the opening was one of the features. Initial prices were 4 points higher to unchanged, trade interests were buyers in the more distant positions. During the greater part of the day, offerings were light and a moderate demand was sufficient to sustain quotations. Some commission house buying by interests usually associated with producers and European interests developed during the afternoon, and the further strength appeared to attract some Wall Street support. At the close renewed buying of July carried this position up to 1.99, or a net gain of 8 points, (ther mouths closed at net advances of 3 to 7 points. Final quotations were: July 1.99.
